Introduction

Those of you who have known us for some time will realise that there has been a pause since 1998 in the longstanding tradition of the annual Delahaye Moving calendar. During that time, there have been a number of marked changes to the company including a relocation to our London office, a new livery for our fleet of vehicles, the introduction of an essential e-mail address and most importantly, the introduction of a new Delahaye generation, when my son Frederic joined the company as a full time employee. Subsequent to joining the company, Frederic has already demonstrated a commitment to continuity of service for our clients in producing the next generation of Delahaye Moving employee, my grandson Josef Xavier. This neatly illustrates that while we are changing to respond to immediate requirements we remain dedicated to our vision of a family business providing a personal service to you.

Today, I am pleased to announce the return of the Delahaye Moving calendar, which on this occasion features photographic scenes from the everyday activities of the company. As per the artistic tradition of the Delahaye Moving calendar, I have managed to secure the renowned society and fashion photographer Pascal Pressis for the photographs. Whilst this assignment is outside the typical scope of his work, he has managed to embody his sense of style and creativity into the task to bring a clarity and charm to each portrait.

Once again, I trust that you will share my enjoyment of the calendar and as always, I look forward to being of service to you in the near future.

My very best wishes for 2001.

Elisabeth Delahaye

Delahaye Moving.....

..... carefully.

I first met the Delahaye Family at the launch of their calendar when I was asked to cover the event in my role as photographer. The concept of the calendar was very impressive, taking an unknown artist and making a calendar of their work. Seven years on and here I am, delighted and privileged to be part of Delahaye's new image.

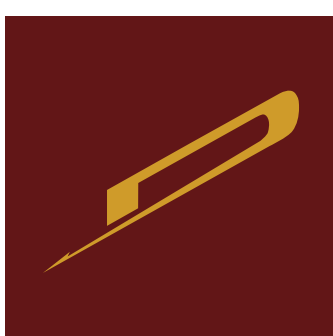

My first idea for the calendar was to show the real life of the guys, all the hard work that they do; there are things which are seen by the clients, and discovered there is a lot no-one ever sees; the early start, the late finish, the work in the warehouse, the driving of the trucks, the safety aspects etc.....

I went to spend some days with them; I saw things that I did not expect to find. I enjoyed the transitions from an empty house, cold and dead, into a warm home, full of life. A real Renaissance, a new start for the house and the family moving in.

I was initially quite worried, 'how could I make a photo of a truck interesting!' But the more I walked around the truck I realised that the doors of the lorry had a real story to tell. This is why I have focused on them closed, open or half-open. Then ; 'How could I show the guys' I wanted to show the energy they use, not to forget the refuelling they get with a cup of tea! The company would not be the company it is, without their hard work and of course the strong back bone of the organisation behind them. It is you the clients, past/present/future, who entrust your favourite antique commode and your most closely guarded secret to these guys. It is on their hard work, their teamwork and their professional ability, that you base your judgement. Unfortunately you only get to see half of the work.

I hope that you will enjoy this calendar and join me in congratulating Delahaye Moving on their New Image, New Colours and of course the New Generation, Josef-Xavier. I am very pleased to be part of it all!
